

New Books Display — Now You Can't Miss Them!

Yvonne Yin —●

The new books that LIBRIS had acquired and processed were previously displayed on bookshelves in the lounge area, Level 3. Naturally, if you happened not to go to Level 3 when you visited the Library, you would miss the display.

After some brainstorming, LIBRIS management decided to move this display down to Level 2, where it will be more convenient to users. Instead of putting them on bookshelves, the books are now attractively displayed on the former Information Desk which has been converted into an eye-catching and prominent exhibition area.

The Information Desk has been incorporated into the Membership and Loan Services Counter so that staff on duty can also assist users in membership and loan services.

You are all welcome to browse through the new books. And, now the good news.... they can be borrowed immediately (unless indicated otherwise). What you browse is what you can borrow! This is unlike previously, when the books could be borrowed only after they had been displayed for two weeks. LIBRIS will try to keep all avid readers/researchers as satisfied as possible by supplying an unceasing flow of new materials.

A list of new titles that have been catalogued for the month can also be viewed at <http://libris.nie.edu.sg/NewTitle/index.htm>.

Happy browsing!
